Who will sing at Olympic closer?

Greatest of Britain.

Pink Floyd, The Rolling Stones, Paul McCartney, New Order, Kate Bush, Spice Girls, all rumoured to be performing at the closing ceremony

If there's one place on this Earth that could guarantee great music for the closing of an Olympics — or the closing of anything for that matter —

it would have to be Great Britain.

The Kingdom has produced so many top pop acts over the past 50 years that it takes mere seconds to create a wish list — with so many more left out — that would have audiences salivating.

The Who, Pink Floyd, the Rolling Stones, Paul McCartney, Adele have all been mentioned but — like they say — you'll have to watch the show to find out.

David Arnold, music director for the ceremony, told London's Telegraph that it will be the greatest after-party in the world.

"If the opening ceremony was the wedding, then we're the wedding reception," he said. "We're the one where everyone gets out of their cars at the village hall, goes 'Wasn't that lovely, everyone looked great, let's put on Blame It On the Boogie and have a laugh.'"

Secret rehearsals have been non-stop at a vacant factory in London, with constant tweaks to the two-and-a-half-hour production entitled A Symphony of British Music.

One performer many believe will be at the closing ceremonies is George Michael, who posted to Twitter this past week

Mum is indeed the word, but rumours persist that the lineup includes 20 or more original artists — many among the greatest British stars ever — performing 30 major pieces.

Talk has the elusive Kate Bush (she hasn't toured since 1979) taking the stage. A download of a new remix of her classic "Running Up That Hill" popped up on Amazon this past week with a release date of Aug. 12, the same day as the closing ceremony. The posting has since been taken down with no explanation.

Roger Daltrey of The Who has been chatting about a piece of music the band has recorded that would be a "fabulous ending for the Olympics" but with no hard confirmation of an appearance.

The individual Spice Girls have been seen all over London the past two weeks, leading to strong speculation they are reuniting for the show.

Some fans are hoping for a Kinks reunion, but insiders say it will just be frontman Ray Davies.

G20 riot's lethal potential in spotlight

Horton sentencing hearing. Police officer trapped in cruiser during Black Bloc riot tells court his story

The lethal potential of the G20 riots came into sharp focus Thursday when a Toronto police officer described dramatic moments he spent inside his cruiser, under attack by masked vandals.

"I believed that I could be killed if these males were able to get me out of the vehicle. I felt I could not afford to take another hit to the head," Staff Sgt. Graham Queen told a Toronto courtroom.

"I was prepared to use any level of force necessary to protect myself. I had placed my hand on my pistol and was fully prepared to use it if the physical attack had continued."

Queen has told his story before, about what happened when violence erupted during the Toronto summit of G20 leaders on June 26, 2010. But this was the first time the 22-year veteran was in court to read a victim impact statement at the sentencing hearing of George Horton, 24. It's also the first time court heard how the situation narrowly averted a possibly deadly outcome.

Ontario Court Justice Beverly Brown convicted Horton after finding he kicked a door of the scout car twice, knowing an officer was inside. The Crown did not allege that Horton was the one who struck Queen on the back of the head with a wooden pole. The blow caused Queen pain and "pronounced disorientation" for an extended time.

Horton also pleaded guilty to wearing a disguise and three counts of attempted mischief

Sole conviction in incident

- Some of George Horton's supporters snickered moments after Queen began speaking, prompting Ontario Court Justice Beverly Brown to eject one woman from the Old City Hall courtroom. There were no further interruptions.

- Horton is the only person convicted of assaulting a peace officer and intimidation of a justice system participant in connection with the notorious incident on Queen Street.

relating to attacks on two Toronto police cruisers and a CBC van.

Crown attorney Elizabeth Jackson is seeking a sentence of 18 months in jail and three years' probation.

The judge reserved her decision until Sept. 28.

46 arrested in connection with staged collisions

Police in York Region have arrested 46 people in connection with a spate of collisions that police allege were staged to bilk insurance companies out of money.

The group was arrested in connection with nine collisions that occurred in August 2010, claiming an estimated $500,000 in accident insurance benefits.

Police are still investigating 20 other suspects in connection with the incidents.

The 46 suspects arrested face a total of 142 charges including conspiracy, fraud and obstructing a police officer.

Police look for clues in death of Malvern woman

Toronto police were at a Malvern apartment building for the second day Thursday, investigating the death of 29-year-old mother of two Robin Jenkins.

Two forensic identification vans were parked outside the highrise on Sewells Road, near Neilson Road and McLevin Avenue, where officers worked inside an 11th-floor apartment.

Peter Gulyas, 35, has been charged with second-degree murder.

Police have been tight-lipped about details of the case, the city's 33rd homicide this year.

According to residents, Jenkins and Gulyas were neighbours. They allege there was an argument between the two on Tuesday afternoon.

Toronto the good? Not on this website

Sex and violence.

City police already investigating peeing video posted Tuesday on controversial site

It started as a digital download site, and has morphed into a place where the video of a "young thug" apparently peeing on the face of a homeless man garners almost 300,000 views in two days.

The U.S.-based website WorldStarHipHop.com is a smorgasbord of both professionally-produced and amateur videos showcasing music, sex, violence and everything in between.

In recent months, it has also become synonymous with the ignominious side of Toronto.

Three videos — a couple having sex on the TTC, a girl getting beaten on Yonge Street, and a man apparently peeing on another outside the Eaton Centre — have been posted on the site.

Toronto police are now investigating the peeing video

Site's life

According to Vibe magazine, the WSHH site was founded in 2005 by American Lee "Q" O'Denat, who started off selling mix tapes online.

- In 2007 the site started to show videos and, after shutting down briefly due to hacking, got back into the game as a video aggregator.
- It's popularity is ranked 232nd in the U.S., ahead of NBA.com, Bloomberg and Travelocity, and 466th in Canada.

posted Tuesday, after being alerted to its existence by the media. It is believed the incident happened outside the H&M at the Eaton Centre between Nov. 17 and Dec. 1 last year.

For their part, police say they can't say why the videos were uploaded to World Star Hip Hop, known as WSHH.

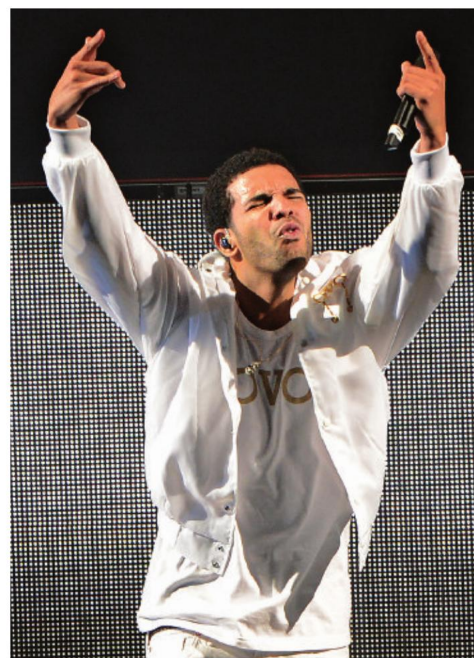

"Certain sites are going to gain reputation for certain type of content which may be a contributing factor" said Const. Wendy Drummond. "The reasons why they post it on a certain site is not integral to the investigation. The fact is, it occurred. It's been posted and it's now going to be used as evidence."

The site has also prompted investigations in the U.S. ABC News reports that violent videos on the site have resulted in at least six criminal investigations since April 2011.

In fact, it is common to hear amateur cameramen yelling "World Star!" during or after a violent altercation, a testament to the site's ever-increasing reach.

"The site was originally about posting underground hip hop," said Dalton Higgins, hip hop expert and author of forthcoming Far From Over: The Music and Life of Drake. "But it's now sort of crossed over to the mainstream, to the wider popular culture. It's become one of the primary vehicles to peddle smut-filled videos."

Shooting hoops helps newcomers find friends and advice

Coming from the basketball-loving Philippine Islands, Ronald Miranda was happy when he saw the neighbourhood basketball court after arriving in Kitchener, Ontario. Little did he know, the game would help him find new friends who would offer sound financial advice.

It all began when the software engineer came to Canada to accept a job with a high tech company. While Ronald was excited to bring his wife and daughter to North America, reality soon set in. "We didn't know anyone here. We had no family and no idea where to get groceries or other necessities," recalls Ronald.

Fortunately, new friends showed them around, including the local basketball court where their families gathered for Friday night games. The growing roster of players included Cris Santos, a Philippine-native, and Branch Manager at Scotiabank's Courtland Avenue and Shelley Branch, in Kitchener, Ontario.

"The game created an extended family for us," says Cris, who adds that basketball helped ease his own transition to Canada when he arrived seven years ago. "Sports can help build a community for newcomers who share all kinds of first-hand advice and experience."

Off the court, Ronald turned to Cris to understand the banking system and when Ronald saw plans for the perfect four-bedroom home he connected with Cris once again for a mortgage¹ pre-approval.

"I ask newcomers about their goals so that they can start working towards them," says Cris. He suggests that newcomers who plan to settle in Canada should think about buying a home or other longer-term goals. "I tell them about pre-authorized contributions to high interest savings accounts, to save for a down-payment, or Registered Education Savings Plans (RESP)², for their children's future," explains Cris, who mentors at the YMCA Cross Cultural and Immigrant Services Centre.

Cris can appreciate how the right advice when starting out makes for long-term success, since he is providing first-hand advice. While Cris and his wife were veteran bankers in the Philippines, they had to learn the Canadian banking system before landing jobs at Scotiabank (Maria Santos is a Personal Banking Manager at 14 Fischer-Hallman Road North in Waterloo).

"Since we were newcomers, we can empathize with others and are able to guide them and provide trusted solutions suited to their needs," adds Cris. For example, The Scotiabank StartRight[®] Program³ for Newcomers includes a free day-to-day bank account for one year⁴, a wide range of credit card options⁵ and a number of other customized services and benefits.

For Ronald, the weekly basketball games enabled his family to build a group of friends who now camp and picnic together, plus a Scotiabank advisor who helped them obtain their new home.

"It started with a small basketball group and the rest is history," remarks Ronald. "Now, when I meet other newcomers, we invite them to play ball and point them to Cris for good advice."

Alexisonfire to bid farewell with tour

The show will go on.

Despite a less than amicable breakup, post-hardcore rockers will reunite for one last farewell tour

A year after a rocky breakup, Alexisonfire has announced plans for a farewell tour.

The Juno Award-winning post-hardcore rockers from St. Catharines will launch the reunion trek at London's 02 Academy on Dec. 3, according to a graphic posted to the group's official website.

From there, they will play two shows in Australia before hitting Canada for gigs in Edmonton, Calgary and Montreal. The tour will wrap with a pair of dates at Toronto's Sound Academy on Dec. 26 and 27.

The quintet announced their split last August in a blog post, in which singer George Pettit said the breakup was necessary but "not really" amicable.

He added that fellow singer Dallas Green had informed the rest of the group that he wanted to focus on his Juno-winning City and Colour solo project, and the band decided to dissolve soon afterward.

Fraud. Lawyers targeted in email scam partly run out of GTA: Police

They may seem an unlikely group to be caught in a con, but lawyers from across North America have been bilked out of millions of dollars by sophisticated email scams, one of which investigators say was partly co-ordinated in the Greater Toronto Area.

The email "collection" scam, which first surfaced around 2007, usually begins with an email from a potential "client" living abroad who asks for help collecting money from a divorce settlement, a real estate deal or other type of legal settlement.

Court records show that con artists have been able to collect hundreds of thousands of dollars each time a lawyer is duped, and these types of scams have reportedly pilfered an estimated $70 million from law firms across the continent.

Next month, an alleged fraudster involved in one such scam — one that authorities believe accounts for about half the total $70 million in losses — will face a criminal trial in Pennsylvania. And Christy Fawcett, an assistant U.S. attorney assigned to the case, said more indictments are on the way for suspected co-conspirators, including those in the GTA.

Emmanuel Ekhaton, a 41-year-old Nigerian national, was arrested in Nigeria and extradited to the United

How the scam works

A fraudster posing as the debtor agrees to pay the debt and sends the lawyer a counterfeit settlement cheque, which yet another fraudster (posing as a bank employee) verifies as authentic via telephone. The lawyer then cashes the cheque, takes a cut in fees for the services and wires the remaining funds to the client's overseas account. By the time they realize the cheque is fake, the money is gone.

States to face several scam-related charges last summer. The charges followed a years-long, cross-border investigation dubbed Operation Pacific Wire involving the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Toronto police financial crimes unit and other agencies.

Toronto police became involved in the operation in 2010, Det.-Sgt. Danny Bell confirmed.

U.S. prosecutors say Ekhaton was living in the GTA during the time he helped coordinate the fraud ring that saw at least 80 lawyers and law firms across North America swindled out of about $32 million. The ring also tried to scam another $100 million from 300 additional victims, prosecutors say.

Man unharmed after chasing dog over Bluffs

An off-duty firefighter and his dog are OK after plunging almost 50 feet over the Scarborough Bluffs on Thursday afternoon.

John Kitsco's property near Crescentwood Park at the foot of Warden Ave. backs onto the Bluffs. He told reporters that his dog Lou, a 14-year-old Shepherd-Kitsco said he then grabbed a rope and descended down to fetch the dog, but called 911 when he couldn't get up. Fire crews were called around 2:15 p.m. and used a harness to retrieve the owner and a basket for his dog.

Both are in good condition, but Kitsco said he was "a bit embarrassed" to be rescued by his fellow firemen.

Pregnancy test. U.S. school changes rule after being told the policy violated the law

A U.S. school is changing a policy that kicked pregnant students out of class and required them to be taught at home, the school's board chairman said Wednesday.

No one at Delhi Charter School in rural Louisiana realized there was anything wrong with the policy until the American Civil Liberties Union's state chapter threatened to sue, said chairman Albert Christman.

The policy has gotten "everybody up in a roar," he said.

The school required students who were suspected of being pregnant to take a pregnancy test. If they refused, or tested positive, they had to be home-schooled. The ACLU said the policy violated Title IX of the 1972 federal education law, which requires equal opportunities for both sexes.

Too many schools do not realize pregnant students should receive equal treatment, the National Women's Law Center said in a June report.

"Despite enormous advances for women and girls in education since 1972, schools

Teen moms

- Fatima Goss Graves of the National Women's Law Center said she had never seen a school policy "that said you must take a pregnancy test in order to attend school. Or one that pushes, so overtly, students out."
- Albert Christman, the Delhi school board chairman, said "just a handful" of students were affected by the policy, which dates to 2006.

across the country (U.S.) continue to bar pregnant and parenting students from activities, kick them out of school, pressure them to attend alternative programs, and penalize them for pregnancy-related absences," the law centre said in the report.

Louisiana Department of Education spokesman Barry Landry said he did not know the state's policies for pregnant students.

Supporters awaiting Pussy Riot verdict

Masked activists demonstrate in support of members of the feminist punk group Pussy Riot in front of the Russian Embassy in Berlin Thursday. Prosecutors in Russia on Tuesday called for three-year prison sentences for the women who gave an impromptu performance in Moscow's main cathedral to call for an end to Vladimir Putin's rule, in a case that has caused international outrage and split Russian society. Surveillance testing

Balloons inflate border-patrol agents' hopes

Something new will soon be floating in the skies above the Texas-Mexico border as federal authorities test balloon-like military surveillance devices to see if they might help with border monitoring. U.S. Border Patrol spokesman Henry Mendiola says the large, tethered devices called aerostats likely will take flight by Friday in the Rio Grande Valley. He could not say how many there would be nor how long testing would last. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

City kills the buzz at vibrator promo

A vibrator giveaway that attracted long lines in New York City came to an abrupt end when the city told the promoters to pack it up. The Trojan condom company set up "Pleasure Carts" on Wednesday in two Manhattan neighbourhoods, and were set to give away 10,000 vibrating sex toys. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

You Could Be Overpaying for Your Car Insurance

Each insurance company has their own rates.

A friend recently compared car insurance rates with their neighbor and was shocked to find out that he was paying a lot more. Although this may seem unfair, the reality is that there are many factors taken into account when an insurance company determines its rates and where you live is only one factor.

The car you drive has an impact on your insurance rate. While you may not know which vehicle is more or less expensive to insure, there are a few points to consider. Each car is rated based on likelihood of a crash, injury and theft. Also, the car value plays a role, as the cost to repair or replace the car may be higher for a more expensive automobile. All of these features of your car will affect your insurance rate.

Your driving record has probably one of the biggest impacts on your rate. Good drivers get the best rates because they represent a lower risk of a claim. If you have a ticket or an at-fault car accident on your record, you will likely pay a higher rate than someone with a clean record.

Where you live and where you drive also affects your insurance premium. Your postal code impacts your rate based on accident statistics in that particular area as well as the likelihood of theft. And your commute distance will likely have an impact as well, as the more time you spend on the road, the odds of an accident increase.

Most of these factors are within your control; but one critical component of insurance rates charged is the insurance company's experience with similar profiles based on all the factors. And on top of this, each insurance company can rate the factors differently making it almost impossible to tell why a rate with one company could be thousands more than the exact same policy with another company.

This means that while one insurance company may charge more in your postal code or for the car you drive, another may charge less for one or both of these factors. With so many insurance companies in Ontario, chances are you may not be with the one that can offer you the best rate for your specific profile.

The only way to make sure you are getting the best insurance rate is to check the costs with as many companies as possible. But who has the time to call or click with that many companies? One option to save time and money is to use a quoting site like InsuranceHotline.com, which will compare your rate against over 30 insurance companies.

The difference between
"oh no!" and "oh."

Why pay extra for the exact same thing? Our network of over 30 premier insurance companies on InsuranceHotline.com could mean the difference between paying a lot more than you anticipated on insurance, and paying a whole lot less.

48-Month Installment Plan ("Plan") offered by Dell Financial Services Canada Limited on approved credit to eligible customers. Minimum transaction amount of $499 is required. No down payment required. Monthly payment set out in the ad is based on a Plan APR of 13.99% and an advance equal to the advertised price for a specific product configuration. Representative example of a Plan: $999 advanced; 13.99% APR; $27.29 monthly payment; total payable is $1309.92; total cost of borrowing is $310.92. Please contact Dell for more information. Applicants who do not qualify for a Plan at 13.99% may be approved for a Plan at a higher APR. No interest for 6 Months with minimum transaction amount of $699 ("6 Month No Interest Offer") or no interest for 12 Months with minimum transaction amount of $1299 ("12 Month No Interest Offer"), each subject to certain conditions. Offered by Dell Financial Services Canada Limited on approved credit to eligible customers. Only available to customers outside Quebec who enter into a 48 month installment Plan ("Plan") for qualifying purchases from Dell from August 3, 2012 until August 30, 2012, 10 pm EST; not available on orders or financing entered into before or after this promotional period. The transaction must include a Dell system. The no interest period starts on the day Dell ships the products to you (the "Start Date") and ends 6 months after that date for the 6 Month No Interest Offer or 12 months after that date for the 12 Month No Interest Offer ("No Interest Period"). To take advantage of either the 6 Month No Interest Offer or the 12 Month No Interest Offer, you MUST (1) pay the full balance before the end of the No Interest Period; AND (2) pay all monthly payments due before the end of the No Interest Period by their payment due dates. If you do not meet either of these conditions, you will be charged interest at the Plan interest rate, accrued and calculated daily from the Start Date. You may arrange a full payout by calling Dell at the number provided with your Agreement. Representative example of a Plan: $999 advanced; 13.99% APR; $27.29 monthly payment; total payable is $1309.92; total cost of borrowing is $310.92. Face-chewer 'ripped me to ribbons': Victim Investigation. Ronald Poppo tells police his attacker was acting nice before turning 'berserk'

Ronald Poppo THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A homeless man whose face was mostly chewed off in a bizarre assault alongside a busy Florida highway told police that his attacker "just ripped me to ribbons."

In a recorded interview with investigators, Ronald Poppo said the man who approached him at first seemed friendly.

Then the man, Rudy Eugene, seemed to become angry about something that had happened on Miami Beach, where thousands were partying through the holiday weekend in late May.

"For a while he was acting nice. Then he got flustered.

screaming that both men would die.

"He just ripped me to ribbons. He chewed up my face. He plucked out my eyes. Basically, that's all there is to say about it," Poppo said.

Eugene, 31, was shot and killed by a Miami police officer during the attack. Lab tests found only marijuana in his system.

Poppo, 65, remains in a long-term-care facility after losing an eye, his eyebrows, his nose and parts of his forehead and right cheek in the May 26 attack. His other eye was severely damaged.

Poppo recalled Eugene telling him that his Bible was stolen in Miami Beach and that Poppo was the one who took it. Poppo said he told Eugene he did not have anything, had not been to Miami Beach.

Crude nicknames reflect Mexican cartels' decline

More low-brow. This crop of bosses doesn't have the mystique of earlier generations of gangsters, drug lords

When "The Worm Eater" and his sidekick "The Rat" were captured, they were allegedly carrying five grenades and about $1 million in cash. "Garbage" was caught extorting money from Mexico City bus drivers, police say. "The Pig" was known for his brutal style of killing rivals. "The Bum" allegedly burned and buried his victims in clandestine pits.

As Mexico's drug violence gets bloodier, with cartels competing to leave ever-bigger piles of slaughtered victims, drug traffickers are being tagged with ever-grittier, low-brow nicknames to reflect their impersonal, almost industrial style of violence.

Gone are the days of high-flying sobriquets such as "The King" (Jesus Zambada Garcia), "The Lord of the Skies" (Amado Carrillo Fuentes) or

"The Boss of Bosses" (Arturo Beltran Leyva), all of whom are dead or in prison. Mid-level cartel leaders are now adopting or being baptized with nicknames such as "The Dog Killer." That was Baltazar Saucedo Estrada, an alleged leader of the notoriously bloodthirsty Zetas gang.

Experts say the killings and arrests of top cartel bosses have left lesser spawn to run the drug, kidnapping and extortion businesses and that has fuelled a cruder approach and a psychopathic, mass-murder style of killing. Instead of offing rivals for turf or cash, many of today's narco-killers, especially among the Zetas, view their ultraviolence as a part of business, designed to shock the public into submission.

"What we're seeing today is a different kind of nickname, that reflects a different way of criminals identifying themselves, and these new forms of violence," said Martin Barron, an expert in criminology at Mexico's National Institute for Penal Sciences.

Russia. PM says someone must take rap for latest bungled space launch Russia's Prime Minister Dmitry Medvedev said Thursday that this week's failed space launch has dented the nation's prestige and that those to blame must be held responsible.

A Proton-M booster rocket launched Monday failed to place two communications satellites into target orbits, a mishap that followed several other botched launches.

An official investigation is underway.

Medvedev said Thursday the failure could have been caused by "traditional sloppiness."

He says he will chair a government meeting next week to look into the case and name those responsible for the failure.

"We can't tolerate that any longer," Medvedev said at the start of a Cabinet session. "We are losing our prestige and billions of rubles."

Russia's space program has suffered a series of humiliating failures blamed on manufacturing flaws and engineering mistakes.

They included the loss of a robotic probe designed to

Wounded prestige

Officials said the failed launches were rooted in the post-Soviet industrial melt-down that has badly hurt a once-proud space program, stymieing its modernization. Despite a steady increase of funding thanks to oil revenues, Russia's space industries continue to rely on outdated equipment and an aging workforce, and quality standards have degraded.

- Recent failures followed other botched launches. Russia lost three navigation satellites in 2010, a military satellite in 2011 and a telecommunications satellite that year.

study a moon of Mars that was launched in November and eventually came crashing down in January.

In August 2011, a Soyuz booster rocket failed, raising the prospect of leaving the space outpost unmanned.

NASA's photo-snapping rover Curiosity at work on Mars

Curiosity returned another postcard from Mars as it begins a two-year mission. This image provided on Thursday by NASA shows a portion of the first 360-degree colour panorama of the Gale Crater. The panorama was stitched together using thumbnail images taken by the rover's mast camera. Curiosity landed in Gale Crater last Sunday, Aug. 5. The craft is the most complex such rover ever designed, and NASA says it's behaving "basically flawlessly."

Would-be moon lander soon to land in scrap heap

A prototype NASA lander crashed and burned in a test flight at Kennedy Space Center in Florida.

NASA says it appears

Five-fold increase

New swine-flu strain linked to fairs

Don't pet the pigs.

That's the message state and county-fair visitors got Thursday from U.S. health officials who reported a five-fold increase in cases of a new strain of swine flu that spreads from pigs to people.

Most of the cases are linked to fairs, where visitors are in close contact with infected pigs.

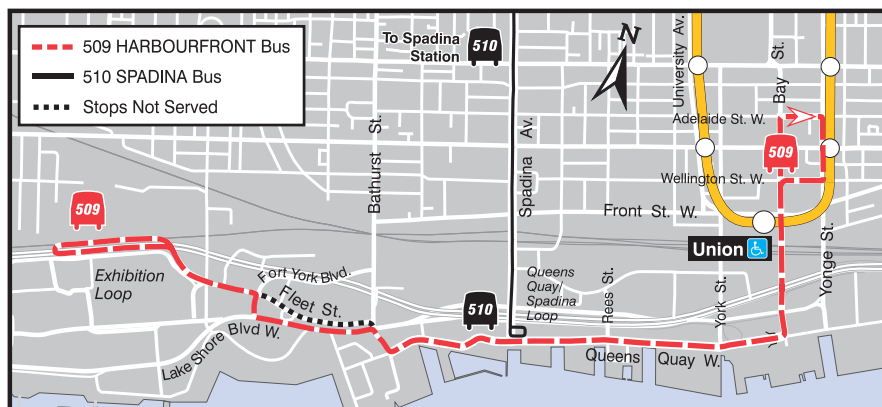

This flu has mild symptoms and it's not really spreading from person to person. Health officials say it's not a pandemic situation. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Comedian Colbert ruffles Wikipedia

Reaction. Wikipedia protects U.S. vice presidential candidates' pages after Stephen Colbert urges viewers to make edits

Wikipedia has protected the pages of possible Republican vice presidential candidates thanks to meddling by Comedy Central's Stephen Colbert, according to the political and technology website TechPresident.

The Wikipedia page entries of several candidates are now "semi-protected" and revisions can only be made by established users of the free crowd-sourced encyclopedia.

Colbert picked up the item on Fox News stating there was a jump in revisions to Sarah Palin's pages in 2008 prior to her becoming the VP candidate. There was speculation that the same thing might happen this time with the Republican nominee for vice-president.

The theory came from a report by Micah Sifry, head of TechPresident. Sifry remembered the odd correlation in updates in Palin's and Joe Biden's Wikipedia pages in 2008 and was interested to see if there would be revisions this time. "I thought what's the harm ... Coalition Avenir Québec Leader François Legault greets members of the public during an election campaign stop in Mirabel, Que., Thursday. GRAHAM HUGHES/THE CANADIAN PRESS

Learning 9 to 5 would be reality under new party

Quebec election.

Teachers' group greets promise with skepticism, saying it would create logistical problems

There will be a lot less late-afternoon texting and TV watching for Quebec high-school students if a new political party gets its way.

The Coalition Avenir Québec (CAQ, Coalition for Quebec's Future) says it would adjust secondary-school opening hours to 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. if it wins the election, in order to better reflect the schedule of modern families and to help fight the province's high dropout rate.

Leader François Legault says he wants to put an end to adolescents going home in the middle of the afternoon and playing video games alone in the house. Instead, they would do extracurricular activities, like sports or cultural classes, or could get help with their homework.

The measure would be implemented over five years and cost $290 million when fully implemented. He said it would be introduced first in poor neighbourhoods with high dropout rates.

He said teachers wouldn't be forced to work an extra hour. Those who choose to, he said, would get a pay raise. Legault said the plan would have to be negotiated with teachers' unions.

For their part, the governing Liberals accuse the Coalition of making promises it can't afford with its cocktail of tax cuts and spending pledges. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Suspect in hammer attack may have given fake identity

When a Spanish tourist was abruptly pummelled in the head by a hammer-wielding stranger on a park bench last week in New York City, there seemed to be little mystery about who attacked him — a suspect was arrested nearby and confessed, authorities said.

But now the case may not be so straightforward: Prosecutors are investigating whether the suspect gave authorities a phoney name after a chess master in Canada told them he believes the man is using his identity.

At the moment, the suspect is being held without bail on attempted murder and other charges relating to the hammer attack. He hasn't been charged with any other crime. The Manhattan district attorney's office is looking into the false-identity allegation, a person familiar with the case said Wednesday, speaking on condition of anonymity because the person wasn't authorized to discuss the matter publicly.

Yoos too?

- The suspect gave police the same name — complete with middle name — and birth date as chess player John C. Yoos.
- Yoos, a U.S. citizen, said he was told the man also gave his Social Security number, though he doesn't know how the man obtained it.

The Legal Aid Society, which is representing the suspect, had no immediate comment.

The tourist, Hugo Alejandro of Barcelona, was eating lunch with his girlfriend in a park near city hall on July 30 when a man sitting next to them pulled out a hammer and started bashing Alejandro on the head and back with it, prosecutors said. Bystanders ultimately wrestled the tool away. Alejandro was treated for a spinal fracture and deep cuts, prosecutors said.

The chess player, John C. Yoos, 43, of Vancouver, says he knew nothing about the attack until a friend contacted him Monday after seeing a news report about it. The friend thought it was a coincidence that a man of Yoos' same name and age had been arrested in New York, Yoos said in a phone interview Tuesday.

He looked at photos accompanying news stories about the attack, recognized the suspect as an acquaintance from years ago and started calling authorities.

"It's a little bit disconcerting because, obviously, it's been widely reported. It's my name and my age on it," he said by phone. "I'd be very happy if this was clarified soon — that this is not, in fact, me."

Stowaway cat returns home

A curious cat named Bandit is back home in Victoria after hitching a ride in a moving van that took him 2,500 kilometres away to Winnipeg.

The Gunderson family moved to Manitoba last week from the B.C. capital.

The driver of their moving truck found the kitty stowaway in a compartment underneath the trailer. Bandit survived the three-day journey with no food or water.

The cat was returned home by plane after the Gundersons contacted the Winnipeg Humane Society. THE CANADIAN PRESS

B.C. Court backs probe of police conduct after pregnant woman's death

Two Vancouver police officers who decided not to warn a pregnant woman about a tip that someone was plotting to kill her in the days before she was murdered have lost a court attempt to block an investigation into their conduct.

Det. Const. Craig Bentley and Staff Sgt. John Grywinski were working on the region's integrated gang task force in 2005 when Bentley received a tip that someone was attempting to hire a hitman to kill 21-year-old Tasha Rosette.

The B.C. Supreme Court heard Bentley told Grywinski, his supervisor, but the pair decided to further investigate the tip rather than warn Rosette.

Five days later, Rosette was found stabbed to death outside the door of her apartment in Surrey, southeast of Vancouver. She was stabbed 40 times and her throat was slashed.

Her boyfriend, Amjad Khan, and his alleged accomplice, Naim Mohammed Saghir, were later convicted of murder and conspiracy to commit murder, though the province's Appeal Court overturned those convictions last year and ordered a new trial.

Iran holds Syrian conference as regime fights off rebel push

Call it dialogue. Allies stand together amidst international pressure for Assad to step down

As Syrian forces struggled to drive rebels from the country's largest city, the regime's key ally Iran tried Thursday to start an alternative political process to address the crisis.

Iran gathered an array of nations ranging from strong supporters of Damascus to far-flung nations a world away from the Syrian civil war.

The one-day forum is unlikely to result in any international consensus, but it shows Iran's resolve to stand by President Bashar Assad as his forces try to crush the 17-month-old uprising.

On Thursday, Syrian rebels said they were low on ammunition but still managed to put up resistance against a regime ground offensive in the city of Aleppo, a centre of fighting for more than two weeks.

Tehran billed Thursday's conference as a way to focus on dialogue — an alternative to Western-led initiatives that call for Assad to give up power.

Iran has said in the past that the Syrian regime's critics fail to take into account violence by the rebels.

"Iran is against the killing of unarmed people and citizens by any side," Iranian Foreign Minister Ali Akbar Salehi said at the gathering.

He also warned that sending weapons to the opposition will only fuel the crisis, and he accused rebels of using civilians as "human shields".

Russia in the past has urged the West to allow Tehran to take part in international discussions on how to settle the Syrian crisis, arguing that the Islamic republic could play an important role. Moscow has been the main protector and ally of Assad's regime, shielding it from UN sanctions over its brutal crackdown on an uprising that has evolved into a full-blown civil war.

The U.S. dismissed the Iranian gathering.

"It's just hard for us to imagine that after putting so much effort into keeping Assad in power ... how they (Iran) can be a constructive actor in facilitating a political solution to the crisis," State Department spokesman Patrick Ventrell said.

Conference attendees

- Iran said some 30 countries attended the meeting, including Russia and China, as well as far-off Benin, Cuba and Mauritania.
- The meeting was called at short notice, and most countries were represented at the ambassador level.

Bosnia. Wildfires set off blast in old minefield, more explosions feared

As firefighters tried to contain two wildfires near an ammunition factory in southern Bosnia on Thursday, one of the blasts began setting off explosions in a minefield left over from the country's war in the 1990s, officials said.

No one was injured, but the risks of entering the minefield and heavy winds were making it difficult for the firefighters and several military helicopters assisting them to battle the two blazes in the populated area.

This summer has been one of the hottest on record in Bosnia, and it hasn't rained in the country for two months.

Bosnia's 1992-1995 war turned it into one of the world's most mine-infested countries.

Colorado. Lawyers for movie shooting suspect say client is mentally ill

Attorneys for the suspect in the Colorado movie theatre shootings said Thursday their client is mentally ill.

James Holmes is accused of going on a July 20 shooting rampage at a midnight showing of the latest Batman movie in Aurora, killing 12 people dead and injuring 58 others.

Defence attorney Daniel King made the revelation about Holmes as he argued defence attorneys need more information from prosecutors and investigators to assess their client.

Nuclear energy under fire on anniversary of Nagasaki

A woman and a boy pray next to lanterns along a river, paying tribute to the victims of the atomic bombing in Nagasaki, southern Japan, Thursday. They were two of the 6,000 people who gathered at a peace park near the epicentre of the 1945 blast, including students and the mayor of one of the towns most affected by last year's nuclear plant disaster. Japanese officials have pledged to seek a society less reliant on nuclear energy as the country marks the 67th anniversary of the atomic bombing of Nagasaki. KYODO NEWS/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Daredevil Nik Wallenda walks a tightrope high above the beach in front of the Atlantic Club Casino Hotel and the Tropicana Casino & Resort in Atlantic City, N.J. on Thursday. THE PRESS OF ATLANTIC CITY, SEAN FITZGERALD / THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Stunt on the beach one very tall order

High tide. Daredevil Wallenda takes another scary stroll, this time unsupported

Quoted

"It felt very slippery."

Nik Wallenda on the tightrope that supported his high-wire walk.

Like anyone taking a walk on the beach, Nik Wallenda on Thursday found sand in places he didn't want it.

For Wallenda, it was on the tightrope he traversed some 100 feet over the beach.

"It felt really slippery," he said. So slippery that he considered doing the 1,300-foot walk barefoot.

But ultimately, Wallenda decided to keep on the buckskin and suede shoes his mother made him, and he completed the walk without any real difficulties.

For Wallenda, a member of the seventh generation of the famous daredevil family that's been putting on shows for two centuries, it was another in a long line of death-defying feats.

In June, he walked farther — and higher up — over Niagara Falls.

This time, though, he was unharnessed as seagulls flew by, a couple of banner-pulling planes zipped around, boats came to shore so their occupants could watch and all eyes on the beach — save those of a few diligent lifeguards — were looking at Wallenda high above.

Local officials estimated that 150,000 people saw him make the half-hour stroll, step by careful step, in person.

There were expectations of a boon for Atlantic City and the Tropicana Casino & Resort, which put on the event.

The crowd got a preview of the Wallenda Family Experience show opening at the casino on Sunday and the city got a spectacle of the sort it wants as it continues to deal with declining gambling revenue caused largely by the opening of casinos in nearby states.

Noreen Saggese, a teacher from Washington Township, N.J., was staying at the Tropicana with a cousin to celebrate her 59th birthday.

"There's no net and there's no harness," she said as she prepared to watch the walk. "It's thrilling."

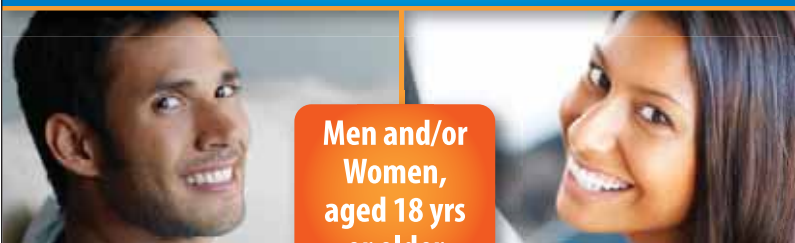

After the walk, Wallenda, 33, had a rehearsal for his family's show. But first, he made time for a quick, calm news conference.

Where this walk ranks among his greatest hits? A diplomatic dodge:

"I'll always remember this walk because of the crowd that turned up, that beautiful boardwalk and the sand."

U.S. begins Agent Orange chemical cleanup in Vietnam

The plan. 73,000 cubic metres of soil will be heated to 335 C to break down the dioxin into oxygen, carbon dioxide and other harmless substances

The United States began a landmark project Thursday to clean up a dangerous chemical left from the defoliant Agent Orange — 50 years after American planes first sprayed it on Vietnam's jungles to destroy enemy cover.

Dioxin, which has been linked to cancer, birth defects and other disabilities, will be removed from the site of a former U.S. air base in Danang in central Vietnam.

The effort is seen as a long-overdue step toward removing a thorn in relations between the former foes nearly four decades after the Vietnam War ended.

The $43-million joint project with Vietnam is expected to be completed in four years on the 19-hectare contaminated site, now an active Vietnamese military base near Danang's commercial airport.

The work begins as Vietnam and the U.S. forge closer ties to boost trade and counter China's rising influence in the disputed south China Sea that's believed to be rich in oil and natural resources. The U.S. says protecting peace and freedom of navigation in the sea is in its national interest.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The issue

The U.S. military dumped some 75 million litres of Agent Orange and other herbicides on about a quarter of former South Vietnam between 1962 and 1971, decimating about two million hectares of forest — roughly the size of Massachusetts.

- The Agent Orange issue has continued to blight the U.S.-Vietnam relationship because dioxin can linger in the environment for decades, entering the food supply through the fat of fish and other animals.

Attendants sit next to a field contaminated with dioxin before a ceremony marking the start of a project to clean up dioxin from the Vietnam War, at a former U.S. military base in Danang on Thursday. MAIKA ELAN/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Flood. Philippine capital cleans up after deluge

Thousands of Filipinos shovelled muck and debris from flood-ravaged homes, shops and roads under a shining sun Thursday after nearly two weeks of non-stop rain shut down the capital and forced hundreds of thousands to flee from the deluge.

At least 49 people died and over two million people were affected by Manila's worst flooding since 2009. More than half of the sprawling metropolis of 12 million was submerged at the peak, and schools and offices have been closed for days.

Guru's corruption protest gains support

India. Yoga master goes on hunger strike, demands rigorous ombudsman law

Indians shouted patriotic slogans and listened to a rousing speech from a charismatic yoga guru who began fasting Thursday to pressure the government to bring back billions of ill-gotten gains — so-called black money — citizens have stashed in foreign banks.

Supporters of Baba Ramdev jammed traffic across New Delhi as they walked to the sprawling Ramlila fairgrounds and buses from nearby states converged on the capital. About 20,000 people pledged their support for Ramdev's campaign to wipe out tax evasion and endemic corruption in India.

Squatting on the ground and fanning themselves with bits of cardboard in the sweltering monsoon heat, supporters cheered as Ramdev spoke.

"I am not against any political party. My protest is only to end black money and to bring back to this country what rightfully belongs to the people of India," he announced from a 20-foot-high platform built at the end of a vast tent.

Ramdev said he would not eat for three days and outlined his demands: a robust ombudsman law to keep checks on

Google hit with $22.5M fine in privacy case

Record penalty. Tech giant pays up to settle regulatory case with the U.S. Federal Trade Commission

Google is paying a $22.5 million US fine to settle the latest regulatory case questioning the Internet search leader's respect for people's privacy and the integrity of its internal controls.

The penalty announced Thursday by the Federal Trade Commission matches the figure reported by The Associated Press and other media outlets last month. It's the most that the FTC has ever fined a company for a civil violation.

The rebuke resolves the FTC's allegations that Google duped millions of web surfers who use Apple's Safari browser. Google had assured people that it wouldn't monitor their online activities, as long as they didn't change the browser settings to permit the tracking.

Google broke that promise, according to the FTC, by creating a technological loophole that enabled the company's

Google headquarters in Mountain View, Calif. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS FILE

DoubleClick advertising network to shadow unwitting Safari users. That tracking gave DoubleClick a better handle on what kinds of marketing pitches to show them.

The FTC concluded that the contradiction between Google's stealth tracking and its privacy assurances to Safari users violated a vow that the company made in another settlement with the agency in October.

The settlement doesn't affect a separate FTC inquiry over whether Google has been abusing its position to highlight its own services and drive up online ad prices. The settlement also doesn't come with any admission from Google of wrongdoing. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

THE NUTS & BOLTS OF LIFE & SPORTS

THE LIST
Mike Benham
Metro

1 What Usain? Does anyone else think it's awesome that the fastest man in the world's real name is Bolt?

2 Oslo motion. A Norwegian ref took our women's soccer team's gold-medal chance and another Norwegian snatched our gold in kayaking. This means war, Norway. Let's see how tough you are when we show up with our trampolines. Yeah. Be afraid ... be very afraid.

3 Jackpot! Facebook now offers online gambling in the U.K. Starting with online bingo, they plan to work their way up to slots. The site will simply ask the user to confirm that they are aged 18 or over, which is fair since everyone knows that gamblers never lie.

4 Sports in space. The six astronauts living aboard the International Space Station have been taking time from their busy schedules to watch the 2012 Summer Olympics. I'm not even allowed to use Twitter at work.

5 Just like us. A study published this week requiring wild hyenas in Kenya to slide open a bolt latch to get a piece of meat showed that only nine out of 62 hyenas succeeded by using their teeth, or flipping the box. This is a huge coup for the science community who spent countless grant dollars to show that if we ever encounter hyenas, we must pray that it's one of the dumb or lazy ones.

6 Second-chance Chuck. Charlie Sheen is back with a new show aptly entitled Anger Management. Hey, here's a lesson for the kiddies: Stay away from drugs or you'll end up rich, making movies and TV shows, having frivolous sex with hot actresses and porn stars, and after publicly humiliating yourself and your entire family, be offered another TV series. Now, is that what you really want?

7 Palin by comparison. Bristol Palin will take part in the all-star season of Dancing with the Stars. She says, "I figure the press will talk about me either way. So I may as well be having fun with a good group of people." Actually, I'm only talking about her to ask why anyone would be talking about her at all? Anyone?

8 Funny Lady. Barbara Streisand is honouring Canada with her presence once again. Well, not so much Canada as those Canadians that can afford to blow $2,000 on one night's entertainment, but hey, thanks Babs.

9 Snoop Fog. Here's how it really happened. A few years after converting to Islam, Snoop Dogg takes a spiritual journey to Jamaica (as if there were any other kind). Once there, he converts to Rastafari and decides to retire from hip hop to start producing reggae music. His manager asks: "Are you high?" Snoop says, "No." Manager replies, "Man, you lyin'!" And a new identity, Snoop Lion, is born.

10 The Entertainer. We lost a music legend this week. Marvin Hamlisch wrote some of the most recognizable tunes of the last half-century. He also holds the distinction of being the youngest student ever accepted into the Juilliard School, which he started at age seven. He was a rare talent who left us with a repertoire of timeless souvenirs. Thanks Marv.

Shock value inside 'Birds in nets' art

Looking at these birds haplessly caught in nets is bound to ruffle a few feathers. But in truth these creatures are unharmed in what is a research process used by biologists. Todd Forsgren's provocative images are from a series on mist nets, which ornithologists have used for years to measure and record birds.

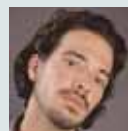

MWN

TODD R. FORSGREN

Behind the photos

- Definition. Mist nets are used by ornithologists for data that cannot be obtained from using binoculars or microphones.

They "function as huge spider webs, catching unsuspecting birds," Forsgren, shown above, says on his website. The scientist carefully removes the bird from the net. The bird is then measured, aged, sexed, and banded with an individually numbered anklet before it is released back into the wild, unharmed.

- For science. Forsgren explains the significance, rather than the tragedy, of getting birds tangled in nets. "Most people think the images are tragic if they're not familiar with the mist-netting and bird-banding," he said in an interview with art print website 20x200. "But I hope that they'll come to understand the valuable information that biologists can collect using these techniques."
- Inspiration. Forsgren's photographs were inspired by the work of pioneering bird enthusiasts: Painter John James Audubon and ornithologist Roger Tory Peterson.

"I spent days studying and trying to emulate Peterson and Audubon as a bird-watching teenager," Forsgren said. "John James Audubon's Birds of America, and Roger Tory Peterson's Field Guide to the Birds of Eastern and Central North America were the first pieces of artwork I loved."

- On critics. Despite the value of data from mist nets usage, Forsgren understands there will always be detractors of the technique: "For some viewers, no amount of discussion can convince them that the good this contributes to bird populations justifies an hour or two of stress on individual birds."

Jeremy Renner in The Bourne Legacy. SUBMITTED

Reel Guys

CROUSE AND
MARK BRESLIN

Bourne delivers on action, not on plot

Richard: Mark, why they didn't call this movie Bourne Again, I'll never know. Jason Bourne may not make an appearance, but it feels like a movie we've seen before — the same shaky camera and frenetic action. The only thing that's changed is that while there's a fair amount of CIA superspy gobbledegook, it's surprisingly light on plot. For a movie about the deepest, darkest workings of secret government agencies the story is really rather simple.

Mark: It's just another chase movie, although they try to disguise it with pseudoscientific bafflelegab delivered at record speed. The blue pill? The green pill? Are we in the Matrix yet? That having been said, it's a very good chase movie for the first two-thirds, until it descends into very conventional car chases and the like. Superior acting lifts this movie above the run of the mill CIA stuff. Do you think Jeremy Renner was up to the task? Or should we lobby to bring back Matt Damon?

RC: I liked Renner, but I loved Damon in the role. I enjoyed Renner's performance in The Hurt Locker, but I wonder if he has the stuff to carry a movie on his own. He can run, jump and shoot with the best of them, but I was hoping for more charisma. When he's not in motion chasing after a bad guy or wrestling a wolf, I found him kind of flat. I was more on side with him in the beginning when he played Cross like a junkie who needed to score. After that he became a bland Bond wannabe.

MB: Copy that, Richard. But it was nice to see Ed Norton working again, and some of the small tense roles handled so well by the cast of well-chosen character actors. I liked the slow build of the first 30 minutes, I thought the editing and crosscutting was masterful, and the shootout set piece in the old house was so well done I felt I was right there in that house with the actors. But what's with bringing in the hit man at the end of the movie? How many times have we seen that cliché? Or the extended car chase — a non-thriller in Manila? And don't even get me started on the ending!

RC: The last 30 seconds felt more like a door slamming shut than an ending.

MB: You know what they say: When a door slams shut, a window opens onto a sequel.

Synopsis

Dovetailing the story from The Bourne Ultimatum, the new film begins with Jason Bourne's appearance in Manhattan outing the CIA's Treadstone/Operation Outcome unit. Before a Senate committee can unearth info on the genetic experiments they conducted on their agents, head honcho Eric Byer (Edward Norton) orders all agents neutralized (assassinated). Among the targets is Aaron Cross (Jeremy Renner), a highly skilled operative who requires chemical enhancement to stay in peak killing form.

Idol Jordin Sparks takes on acting fearlessly

Stars in Sparkle.

Young singer begins movie career in musical with the late legendary diva Whitney Houston

NED
scene@metronews.ca

Before we can start the interview, something white and fluffy rushes by my leg. "That's Minnie, she's my dog," Jordin Sparks offers apologetically. "She got into a cup of coffee, so we want to watch her real quick for a little bit. She's kind of walking sideways slightly, but she'll be fine." That's just one more thing for Sparks to keep track of as the American Idol champ launches her first major foray into acting with Sparkle, the girl-group drama that had her going toe-to-toe with Whitney Houston.

What was your mind-frame going into the audition process as an actress for the first time?

Before I auditioned I was thinking, who- e v e r gets this part it's going to be really special. I was reading it going,

"This is great, this is really incredible." And then at the same time I was like, "Well, I haven't read very many scripts so how do I know the difference between something that's great and something that's not?" My mindset when I went in to audition was there's a very real chance that you couldn't get this part, but if you do, run with it. Just go, run with it, don't question it. But questions and doubt always creep in. Once I did get it, I was just like, OK, so they believe in me. They see something that I can't see yet, so o bviously I'm here for a reason if all of them collectively thought I was good for the part. And I was just like, OK let's do this. I cannot be horrible if Whitney's playing my mom, so I better step it up somehow.

I take it you've read more scripts now. Have you gotten any bad ones?

Um ... well, I mean I haven't read a ton of them. There are some that are kind of ... I got one for a slapstick horror movie, and I read that and I enjoyed it because I enjoy a kooky movie from time to time, but I was like, "Hmmm ..."

That mindset of “I might not get it” is pretty mature and realistic. How do you get that balance?

That balance:
If we're going to go way back, my dad played football. And I've always kind of compared everything to the sports world. Like there's always somebody who's going to be coming up who's more talented or faster or stronger or something like that. There's always going to be somebody who's waiting in the wings to take your place or sing right alongside you. So I always had that mindset because of my dad, and I applied that to Idol as well.

Anna Kendrick won role on her talent, not rep

Role in ParaNorman.

Producers had no idea she was one of the stars of Twilight, just liked the way she sounded and acted

NED
scene@metronews.ca

Anna Kendrick assumed she got her part in ParaNorman — as the title character's obnoxious older sister — because of her work in the Twilight series. But that wasn't exactly the case. Luckily, the Oscar-nominated actress knows how to take even the most awkward of compliments.

When you're cast to do a voice for a character some could describe as annoying.

how do you take that?

Well, it was funny because actually I had assumed this was the first job offer I'd ever gotten because of Twilight. Because everything else is sort of based on Rocket Science or Up in the Air — and now 50/50 and so on and so forth. This is such a different character that I thought this has to be based on my character in Twilight. I asked them about it, and they said they'd never seen Twilight and they just heard my voice in an interview and thought it would be good, and I was like, "I don't know how to take that at all. Thank you, I think?" You know, I was like playfully offended.

Did you make it up to the Laika studio in Oregon?

All my (voice recording) sessions were in L.A., but I did make a special trip up to

Anna Kendrick
GETTY IMAGES

I did miss seeing something actually filmed, which was disappointing, but all the other actors were jealous that I got to walk through and take pictures, like, inside the set — as a 50-foot woman.

Did you take anything with you, like slip a tree in your pocket or something?

Oh, no. I considered it, but I thought I'd get in trouble. They gave me a mini bust of Courtney, which is hilarious because she's so silly, and to have this really stately bust of her on my bookshelf is great. She's got a lot of ... physicality to work with. It's like she's a force of nature in a moody, volatile, teenage way.

After starting in theatre, you made your move to film with the Camp almost 10 years ago.

That was a really special first experience to have, and I'm really glad that it worked out that way because I think if I'd been plopped into a normal film set, I think I would've been utterly bewildered and terrified. The fact that it was about musical theatre and we were all first-time film actors just made it a really easy environment to ask questions and understand the process of filmmaking, and I think it really made me embrace filmmaking and the physical limitations of filmmaking.

Laika Studios' ParaNorman is a stop-action animated comedy about a lonely little boy who just happens to be able to speak with the dead. HANDOUT as a kind of challenge. And I've seen a lot of actors get really frustrated and angry when they realize they can't do what they thought they were going to do because, you know, you're going to be out of frame, dude. I've watched actors become instantly jaded by that, as though this isn't really art. But to me it just felt like it's just a new art form.

2 Days in New York

Director. Julie Delpy

Stars. Julie Delpy, Chris Rock

An American-set sequel to Julie Delpy's 2007 comedy 2 Days in Paris, this movie involves the actress-turned-director and her on-screen husband Chris Rock hosting the former's wacky dysfunctional family of French sex-obsessed pot-smokers in Manhattan. As appealing as Rock is (playing the straight-man), the laughs are few, the story is rambling and the payoff simply isn't memorable. STEVE GOW

Compliance

Director. Craig Zobel

Stars. Ann Dowd, Dreama Walker

Craig Zobel's queasy drama about a fast-food restaurant plagued by a perverted crank caller is one of the most pressurized American movies in recent memory. Realistically staged and occasionally difficult to watch, Compliance goes beyond its based-on-a-true-story hook; it's got the shapeliness and finesse of a great thriller. ADAM NAYMAN

The Campaign

Director. Jay Roach

Stars. Will Ferrell, Zach Galifianakis

It may be political satire but there isn't a whole lot of effectual social commentary in The Campaign. Instead, Will Ferrell and Zach Galifianakis star as two moronic politicians who relentlessly compete for election votes through everything from sex tape campaign ads to inadvertently punching babies. The inconsistent but engrossing gags only drive any serious political points into the muck. STEVE GOW

Comedy

Hope Springs

Director. David Frankel

Stars. Meryl Streep, Tommy Lee Jones, Steve Carell

Streep's Kay, 30 years married and five years untouched, is optimistic that she can save her relationship, despite evidence to the contrary. Her husband Arnold (Jones) has moped over emotionally and sexually, content to live a cold, separate life. He grudgingly acquiesces to therapy but deflects Dr. Feld's (Carell) advice. The film forgoes histrionics for emotional realism as only these pros can deliver. ANNE BRODIE

Many, many Sundays

Billy Crystal. Actor to author book on aging — and might turn it into a stage show

He has lived many, many Sundays. Turning 65 next year doesn't only mean more nap time for Billy Crystal. The actor and comedian is transforming the milestone into a book, and maybe even a stage show.

Crystal has an agreement with Henry Holt and Company for a book that will be part memoir, part meditation — with jokes — about getting older. Crystal said he hoped to have it out around the time the big day arrives, on March 14, 2013.

"There are 77 million of us baby boomers in the country and this book will speak to them and how we look at the world," he said.

The book is currently untitled. "We have a dirty title and a sincere title," he said.

He's considering adapting the book for the stage. Crystal had enormous success with the Tony Award-winning 700

Sundays, his one-man theatre show that paid tribute to his late father with whom Crystal has said he spent 700 Sundays.

Crystal has made a career out of turning his life into comedy. City Slickers was a story of mid-life crisis, and an upcoming film, Parental Guidance, stars Crystal and Bette Midler as grandparents, based on Crystal's experiences with his own grandchildren.

He's also working on a sequel to Monsters Inc. and is a possible candidate for another shot at hosting the Oscars.

Lundgren lured back to Expendables cast because his role is 'fun' to play

Character written specifically for him.

Veteran action star sees a lot of himself and his own past in his expanded role

It's no secret that '80s action film star Dolph Lundgren also has a degree in chemical engineering and gave up a Fullbright scholarship to MIT to become a bodyguard for Grace Jones and eventually an actor. By complete coincidence, in The Expendables 2 we learn that his mercenary character, Gunnar, gave up studying chemical engineering at MIT to become a bouncer at a club and shack up with an exotic girlfriend. How convenient.

Whose idea was it to make your character's backstory your own backstory?

That was (Sylvester) Stallone. I had reservations about the original script on the second (movie). My character had been so fun to play in the first one. That was the reason I did the movie, and it felt like everyone seemed happy with it. Then in the second one, my character was just like a regular guy in the back with the rest of them, like, "Hey, can I throw a grenade? Can I kill someone, please?" And I didn't like that. I didn't want to make the picture — actually, I did turn it down. So then Stallone kind of came to me and said, "I'm going to think of something," and he came up with a couple of ideas. This was one.

Sylvester Stallone (centre) managed to overcome initial reluctance by Dolph Lundgren (far right) to be in The Expendables 2 by customizing his role. HANDOUT

Did you have a say in exactly how much his story matches yours?

It was all in there. I was a bouncer, and it had to do with Grace (Jones) — he fell in love with some girl who dances at a disco, which is kind of like

Grace and the whole thing, right? Look, Sly made a career out of making his whole life into movies and it worked for him, so I did a little bit for me, I guess, and I guess it worked pretty well.

Was it common for you guys to slip in Stallone impressions on set when he wasn't around?

Yeah, and the Arnold (Schwarzenegger) one, too. "I'll be back" (laughs). I was at Comic-Con with them, and you're sitting at the panel with Arnold and Stallone, and you just don't say a word because what are you going to do? These guys are so famous that they're like almost beyond famous. Anybody can do their voice, everybody knows them in the whole world — in the fucking jungles of Malaysia, even.

When you're bringing in all these new characters, beefing up the cast, is there a worry that you're going to get crowded out?

Yes, I think it weighs on you incredibly. Part of the filmmakers' and the writers' task is how do you give 10 co-stars enough screen time for them not to get upset or feel like they're getting lost — or for the audience to get their dose of Chuck (Norris) or whoever they want to see, Dolph Lundgren or Terry Crews or Stallone — well, Stallone gets a lot of screen time (laughs).

Time to heal

Grieving Stallone stays home

The cast of The Expendables 2 say they're giving Sylvester Stallone space after the death of his son last month.

Stallone's 36-year-old son Sage died on July 13 in his Los Angeles home — a day after Stallone was joined by Arnold Schwarzenegger and other Expendables stars at Comic-Con in San Diego.

"Something like that is so severe. You can't really do anything. I sent him a handwritten note. I contributed to a charity for his kid," said Dolph Lundgren, one of the stars of the film, which opens Aug. 17.

"He knows we're thinking about him," Lundgren said at a recent media event for the film. "He knows us. He knows our prayers go out to him. But what are you going to do? I have two kids. And all you can do is hug your kids and go thank God it didn't happen to you."

Stallone has not made any public appearances since the death. His publicist said in a statement that the star was "devastated and grief-stricken."

TTC Temporary Route Change

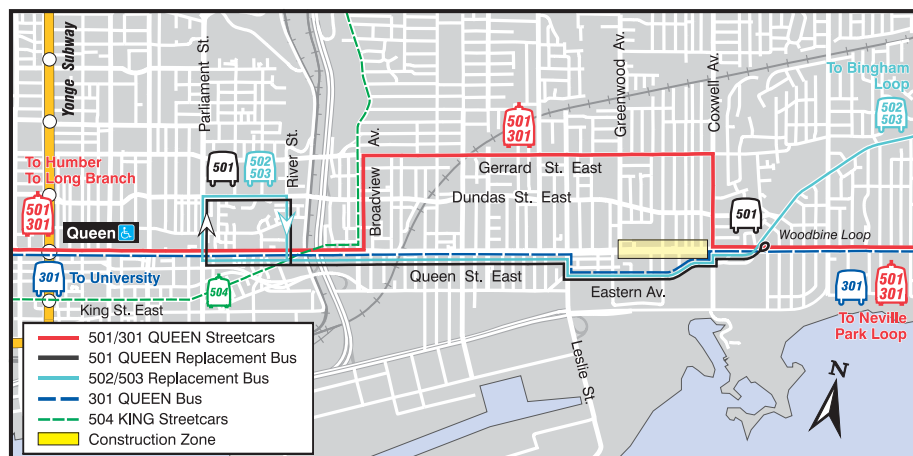

Queen Street East - Track Repairs and Watermain Work

Streetcar overhead replacement work is scheduled to be completed on Queen Street, east of Coxwell Avenue.

- 501/301 QUEEN streetcars will operate to Neville Park Loop.

Track construction continues on Queen Street East, between Greenwood Avenue and Coxwell Avenue.

- 501/301 QUEEN streetcars will be diverted in both directions via Broadview Avenue, Gerrard Street and Coxwell Avenue.
- Customers travelling eastbound on 501/301 streetcars may transfer to 501/301 buses or 502/503 buses at any stop on Queen Street between River Street and Broadview Avenue.

- Customers travelling westbound on 501/301 buses or 502/503 buses may transfer to 501/301 streetcars at any stop between Broadview Avenue and Parliament Street.
- Customers travelling westbound on the 502/503 buses may transfer to 504 King streetcars at Queen and Broadview Avenue.

The project is scheduled to be completed by October 6, 2012.

Survival/ Muse

First single from their sixth studio album, The 2nd Law, which will be in stores Sept. 17. youtu.be/66molzUEkWI

Settle Down/ No Doubt

First single from Push and Shove, due Sept. 25. The last time they released a full album (2001), there was no such thing as YouTube, Facebook, Twitter or Wikipedia. And the iPod was just six weeks old. youtube/Pb_zZ3xltPI

Oh, Love/ Green Day

The first single from the first of three (!!!) albums from Green Day that will come out between Sept. 25 and Jan. 15. youtu.be/H_05XAPR8q8

Deadmau5 will release a new album on Sept. 25. HANDOUT

Album title goes here

Deadmau5. New disc has a strange title and comes on the heels of artist's musing about taking a break

Just a few days after declaring he needed to "slam on the breaks" because he was feeling "pretty miserable," Deadmau5 has announced a new album.

The 31-year-old electronic music producer from Niagara Falls, Ont., will release Album Title Goes Here on Sept. 25.

Following his collaboration with the Foo Fighters at the Grammy Awards this year, the 13-track collection finds Deadmau5 — whose real name is Joel Zimmerman — dipping his toes into rock once again, with My Chemical Romance frontman Gerard Way singing on lead single Professional Griefers.

Many of the songs have been available online already as rough edits and can be found easily.

Zimmerman nabbed headlines this weekend when he said he needed a break

- Getting paid. Zimmerman, who recently ranked sixth on Forbes' list of the world's highest-paid DJs with earnings of $11.5 million, did acknowledge even then that he'd have something new for fans soon.

Canadians finally get a taste of Sheen's Anger

The Olympics are all about dedication and discipline, and what says dedication and discipline like Charlie Sheen?

OK, so Sunday likely marks the last time the manic actor will be associated with the Olympics, as his heavily promoted new series Anger Management makes its Canadian premiere immediately following the London Games' closing.

Loosely inspired by the Jack Nicholson movie with the same title, the show also features Selma Blair and Brett Butler in recurring roles. crv

Charlie Sheen stars in the new show Anger Management. HANDOUT

Punk on Punk'd

Bieber's Punk'd episode gets a second run

Canadian teen-pop sensation Justin Bieber is known as quite the little prankster, but you don't need to take my word for it.

On Saturday, MTV Canada is re-airing the episode of Punk'd hosted by the Stratford, Ont., native. Among Bieber's escapades, he tricks Taylor Swift into thinking she ruined a couple's wedding by setting a boat on fire.

And he double-crosses Miley Cyrus, who believes she's punking Bieber when it's actually the other way around. MTV

New shows, stars wait for other shoe to drop

Fresh fall lineup. Casts and execs hold their breath as the new season approaches and the axe hangs over everyone's head

It's the moment before the moment of truth.

The new fall series are in the wings, just days or weeks from bursting into view and discovering their fate. Their stars, producers and network bosses are full of anticipation and resolve.

That's what the recent Television Critics Association powwow was all about: Casts and execs parading before the nation's TV reporters to get them stoked.

Granted, many of the stars who hawked their show with such conviction were relying on blind faith. Most were still a few days from resuming production. Some hadn't even seen any upcoming scripts. Their only firsthand knowledge was based on the series pilot they shot months ago. The painful truth is, the shows the stars came plugging at TCA will most likely be gone a year from now, when some of the same actors could be right back here promoting their next series — those actors, that is, who are lucky enough to land another series so quickly.

Consider Laura Benanti

from the upcoming NBC comedy Go On, who a year earlier sat here on the dais in the Beverly Hilton Hotel's grand ballroom as part of the ensemble of NBC's The Playboy Club — which was axed last fall after airing just three weeks. Alongside her was Go On co-star Matthew Perry, who last season was at TCA plugging his ABC sitcom Mr. Sunshine.

Terry O'Quinn, who scored belated TV stardom on Lost, is now headlining as a devilish landlord on ABC's spooky thriller 666 Park Avenue, and he takes nothing for granted.

"I feel very uncertain, not terribly well-balanced," he said with a wan smile, "and having done this for a living for this long, that's a fairly normal state. I hope the show succeeds, but I've become pretty philosophical about the numerous failures that one suffers in this business."

Jay-Z and Beyoncé

Jay-Z, Beyoncé top power couple financial list

Forbes magazine has yet another list for measuring celebrity wealth, and this time it's the Highest Paid Celebrity Couples.

Topping the list are Beyoncé and Jay-Z, with an estimated combined income last year of $80 million.

Tom Brady and Gisele

Bundchen, who topped the list last year, come in at No. 2 with $42 million, while David and Victoria Beckham sit at No. 3 with $54 million.

OUR TAKE ON THE WORLD OF CELEBRITIES

The Word

A delayed X Files romance?

THE WORD

Monica Weymouth
scene@metronews.ca

Earlier this week, Gillian Anderson parted ways with her longtime boyfriend and father of her two sons, Mark Griffiths.

She's not exactly a to-death-do-we-part type of girl — she's previously married and divorced twice — but rumors are swirling that there are special circumstances to this split.

According to gossip blog Celebrity Dirty Laundry, the actress is dating her former X Files costar, the recently officially single David Duchovny.

Sources tell the site they "have been in a serious relationship for some time now," and that Anderson and her children have already moved in with Duchovny in Los Angeles.

Before you X Files fans get too excited, a word from Duchovny's rep: "It is not true," he says in a terse statement.

The thing is, we should probably believe him. But on behalf of all the Scully and Mulder goldfish couples out there, we're not giving up hope just yet.

Pattinson opens line of communication — in the form of a drunk-dial

Robert Pattinson has reportedly started reaching out to estranged girlfriend Kristen Stewart — but not in the healthiest of ways.

"He's been drinking like crazy," a source tells In Touch magazine. "He's been drunk-dialing Kristen." Pattinson had reportedly been giving Stewart the silent treatment in the wake of revelations of her infidelity, but apparently now he's looking to talk — sort of.

"Rob had been avoiding her calls, but now they're talking — well, they're barely talking," the source says. "There's a lot of dead silence on the phone because there's not a lot to talk about."

Pan-Sautéed Salmon Over Mediterranean Vegetables. This healthy recipe is inspired by some popular Greek flavours

The ancient Greek physician Hippocrates stated, "Let thy food be thy medicine and thy medicine be thy food".

Hippocrates, the father of modern medicine, used spices and herbs from the Greek countryside for his medical healing.

Greeks have been cooking on the open grill for thousands of years. They are famous for both their grilled vegetables and their grilled fish. Grilling is also one of the healthiest ways of cooking food.

Main ingredients of Greek cuisine are olive oil, vegetables and herbs, grains and bread, wine, fish, and various meats.

Also important are olives, feta cheese, eggplant, courgette (zucchini), and yogurt. Greek desserts are characterized by nuts and honey.

This heart-healthy Mediterranean recipe helps you get your vegetables in, along with providing a nice amount of fibre and omega-3s.

1. Heat 1/2 teaspoon of oil in a small non-stick skillet over low heat. Add prosciutto. Sauté for 5 minutes, or until crispy. Stir in garlic; turn off heat.

2. Heat 2 teaspoons oil in a large nonstick skillet over medium-high heat. Add onion and mushrooms and sauté for 8-10 minutes, or until golden. Stir in tomatoes and cook for 3 minutes. Add spinach and basil and cook for 3 more minutes. Stir in prosciutto-garlic mixture. Cover; keep warm. Season salmon fillets with salt and pepper.

3. Heat remaining 1/2 teaspoon of oil in the same skillet used to cook prosciutto over medium heat. Add salmon, skin-side down. Cook, covered, for 10-12 minutes or until fish flakes easily. Use a spatula to loosen fish from its skin, which will stick to skillet.

4. Divide vegetables among 4 plates, top with salmon and serve immediately.

- Salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste

Liquid Assets

Greece in a wine glass

LIQUID ASSETS
Peter Rockwell
@therealwineguy
liquidassets@eastlink.ca

When it comes to undiscovered wine countries, Greece is the word.

While you could make a decent argument for China and somewhere obscure in South America or Eastern Europe, the Greeks are often credited for getting the wine industry rolling by being the first to ferment grape juice a few centuries ago.

Problem is, Greek wines come with more baggage than a family holiday with the Kardashians.

Though the good stuff is Mediterranean in style, I'm betting the only wine you've ever tried from Greece is the polarizing, pine-resonated Retsina — which has a taste that can only be acquired after copious shots of Ouzo.

As if freaky flavours aren't enough of a problem, the old adage "It's all Greek to me" certainly applies to most of the country's wine labels. Even if you can pronounce a word with five vowels, you would still need a UN translator to understand what it means.

Selection varies dramatically across the country so it's hard to recommend a go-to wine. Look for one made by one of its better producers (Boutari or D. Kourtakis) and with one of its endogenous classic grapes — agiorgitiko for red and moschofilero for white. "Opa!"

Just Opened: Free People

This one's for the ladies. Sixties-inspired boho chic ex-store-reinaire Free People recently opened its first international location, in a sweet three-story "house" at 79 Yorkville Ave.

The 73rd store — there are 72 locations across the States — features a prime selection from the company's collections, replete with a separate entrance for its Intimates collection, making that space, well, intimate.

Brewer's Backyard at Brick Works

The Brewer's Backyard — a beer series that takes over Evergreen Brick Works (550 Bayview Ave.) — is back Sunday the 12th with a special edition Beer Jam.

It's a celebration of fruit beers: from raspberry ales to blueberry wheat varieties and all in between.

Babi & Co. will be on hand to serve up some delish Indonesian street food and Fidel Gastro will be slappin' up his sammies.

Wakestock

Wakestock, the world's largest Wakeboard, Action Sports, and Music Festival is on this weekend (the 10th through 12th).

Here's the catch: It's in Collingwood. (Millennium Park, Collingwood Harbour.) It's worth the trek. From extreme wakeboarding to a plethora of bands to the high energy skatepark, this is one fest you won't want to miss.

Just Opened: Penguin

Now it's the gents' turn. Perennial favourite menswear brand Penguin has opened its first Toronto store at 700 Queen St. W.

Penguin first became a favourite thanks to its golf shirts, but over the years has expanded its line to full collections with everything from outerwear to footwear, suits to denim and so much more.

HeavyTO

For those inclined to the rawer styles of music, HeavyTO snarls into Downsview Park Saturday and Sunday for two days of unbridled heavy metal, industrial, and hardcore music.

Featuring acts like Marilyn Manson, Slipknot, System of a Down, and Kataklysm, HeavyTO is for the tried and true metal-head.

Hopefully it doesn't rain ... that'd put a rusty hue on the whole fest, and the mosh-pit.

Sausagefest '12

More music for ya! Fans of The Edge's Dean Blundell Show take note: On August 18 at Sound Academy (11 Polson Street), Sausagefest '12 is serving up rock like nobody's business.

From Sloan to Monster Truck to The Watchmen and many more, Sausagefest '12 is the perfect mix of music and brews, sponsored by Amsterdam Brewery.

Teaching new skills

A finishing school in 2012?

CHARLES THE BUTLER
askcharles@metronews.ca
For more, visit charlesmacpherson.com

Concluding my ocean crossing last week, I had the pleasure and honour of visiting a business colleague Madame Viviane Neri in Montreux, Switzerland.

Now Madame Neri owns one of the world's most famous and well-respected ladies finishing schools. While we were touring the school, I asked Madame Neri what I perceived as an innocent but most relevant question on all of our minds. Why do women need to go to a ladies finishing school in the year 2012?

Well foolish me for asking the question, because I certainly got a bit of a well-deserved earful. We ignorantly think of ladies finishing schools as something antiquated, where ladies are taught how to dress and be a "perfect hostess" in a world where the man works and the lady stays home and lives and breathes to make her home the best.

But finishing school in 2012 has nothing to do with ladies who lunch. It is focused on training women to become professionals at international business. It may seem silly to some, but understanding cross-cultural communication and being able to use these to your advantage in business gives you a distinctive advantage.

A woman like Queen Elizabeth II, for example, conducts international public relations, events and ceremonies on behalf of the government, but in her case she was taught these skills at home.

Today, the modern woman goes to this type of school to learn these vital skills.

During the six-week program students learn correct international table manners, table setting, correct and appropriate conversation and how to position this knowledge to their strict advantage.

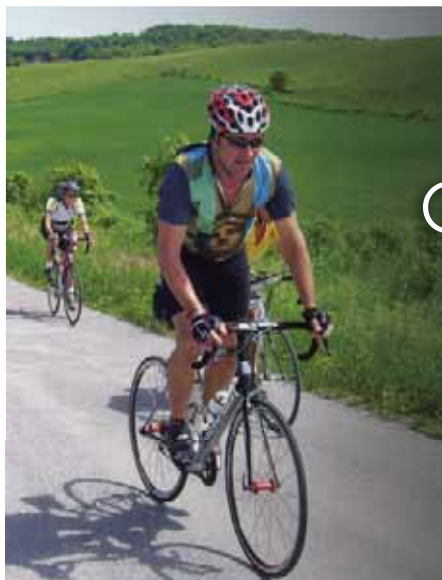

This school is so tough it has 45 exams during the six weeks in order to graduate with a diploma. Remember, many business deals occur in places other than a boardroom, and this is where the Institut Villa Pierrefeu has a distinct advantage as the oldest finishing school.

So who is the typical student?

Well, interestingly enough, women attend the school from North America, the Middle East and Asia, making it truly a global program.

Everyone from the middle class, all the way up the social ladder to royal family members make up today's typical classroom.

Gluten-free tartlets celebrate end of local strawberry season

Local strawberries star in these sweet and creamy tartlets with liqueur that happen to be gluten-free.

1. Heat oven to 190 C (375 F).

2. In a food processor, pulse together walnuts, butter, maple syrup and brown sugar until crumbly. Divide mixture among four 10-cm (4-inch) non-stick tart shell moulds, pressing evenly into bases.

3. Bake for 13 to 15 minutes until fragrant and golden brown. Let cool and remove from moulds.

4. In a medium bowl, combine strawberries with liqueur; spoon 50 ml (1/4 cup) into the base of each tart.

5. Pipe or spoon 50 ml (1/4 cup) of the whipped cream onto each tart and top with large strawberries. Serve immediately.

Jays lose Lawrie to DL, and another game to Tampa

The Toronto Blue Jays have placed third baseman Brett Lawrie on the 15-day disabled list.

Lawrie — who has a possible rib cage injury — is on the DL retro-active to Aug. 4.

On Wednesday, Lawrie missed his fourth consecutive game because of a rib cage injury.

Lawrie had an MRI exam Tuesday night that showed some oblique inflammation.

On Thursday, the Rays' Matt Moore threw six sharp innings and Jose Lobaton drove in three runs to beat the Blue Jays 7-1 for a three-game sweep.

Toronto's starter Henderson Alvarez gave up 11 hits in 4 2-3 innings to take the loss

Tennis. Murray the latest star to sit out tournament, joining Rafael Nadal and Roger Federer

It wasn't an ideal way for Canadian favourite Milos Raonic to reach the quarter-finals of the Rogers Cup tennis tournament.

The 21-year-old from near-by Thornhill, Ont., advanced Thursday when recent Olympic champion Andy Murray pulled out because of a knee injury, depleting the rain-delayed tournament of yet another elite competitor.

Murray hurt his left knee on Wednesday during his opening straight set victory against Italy's Flavio Cipolla. The win came just three days after Murray battled Roger Federer

MARQUEE MATCHUP NOT UP TO HYPE

Argos-Lions game not the elite matchup promoters would have you believe; former all-star placekicker turns up at Roughrider camp; and the Bombers first-quarter shortcomings in line with headache season

CFL EXTRA POINTS
Dan Toth
toronto@metronews.ca

Toronto Argos:

The faithful CFL promoters at TSN were pumping the Argos-Lions game last week as a "battle of the league's top teams" but that's just not the case.

The Argos, now 3-3, could just as easily be 1-5 (or winless?) entering their bye week. Even with Ricky Ray running the offence the team has sometimes struggled moving the ball, including three interceptions last week. Some games it seems Ray has neither the receiving corps he requires, nor the offensive line to provide him with time for plays to develop.

B.C. Lions: The Lions continue adding to the argument that they possess the CFL's best defence. Last week's defensive shutout of the Toronto Argos, with flashy performances from newcomers Byron Parker and Lin-J Shell, just re-enforced their status as the CFL's nastiest D. B.C. forced four turnovers and didn't allow a touchdown for the second straight game.

Edmonton Eskimos: Eskimos all-star slotback Fred Stamps hasn't enjoyed a great start to the 2012 season, but he's slowly inching his way up the team's all-time leading receiver's list. With four grabs for 91 yards last week, Stamps eclipsed the 5,000 career yard mark and could join the Eskies elite top-10 group with 51 yards Friday night against Saskatchewan.

Calgary

Stampeders:

Stampeders head coach John Hufnagel must appreciate having a little extra time to devise a game plan. The Stamps entered Thursday night's game in Hamilton sporting a 5-0 record when returning from the bye week.

Saskatchewan Roughriders: We posed the question a couple of weeks ago about the future of former all-star placekicker Sandro DeAngelis, who had seemingly been booted from the collective conscience of CFL teams.

His appearance this week in Roughriders camp reinforces the notion that teams are willing to provide second and third chances for players of his calibre. The former Most Outstanding Canadian of the 2008 Grey Cup has bounced from Calgary to Hamilton and then Montreal, but could find a home in Regina where he is reunited with former Calgary coaches Corey Chamblin and Craig Dickenson.

Winnipeg Blue Bombers: It's been well documented that the hapless Bombers are faced with endless headaches this season, from a new stadium that wasn't completed on time, to another maddening injury to star QB Buck Pierce. But worst of all is an inability to get ready for the start of games, and that has to rest with head coach Paul LaPolice.

The Bombers have been outscored 47-7 in first quarters this season and have yet to record a touchdown in the first 15 minutes.

Hamilton Tiger-Cats: Much has been made of the turnaround season QB Henry Burris is enjoying in Hamilton, but the emergence of sensational running back Chevon Walker has aided Burris's success in Steeltown. Opposing defences are forced to respect the Tabbies run game, allowing Burris to unload for 15 TD passes through just five games heading into Thursday night's clash with Calgary.

Montreal Alouettes: It's hard not to focus on aging QB Anthony Calvillo when assessing the merits of the Alouettes, but the play of running back Brandon Whitaker is also worth noting.

Whitaker won his second CFL offensive player of the week award with a season-high 115 yards on 18 carries in a win over Winnipeg. You could argue he is the league's most talented and versatile back.

Canadians cap off amazing turnaround against France

Women's soccer. Team captures Olympic bronze one year after crashing out of the World Cup

John Herdman has a picture of Christine Sinclair in his home office in Vancouver from last summer's World Cup. Canada's captain has her head in her hands, her face twisted in anger and despair.

When Herdman took over as coach of the Canadian women's soccer team last fall, he promised his players he would use that photo as his motivation.

"I'll never see a player of that quality in that state after a tournament," Herdman says he told them. "It's great to see Christine smiling, you know?"

The Canadians will be smiling for a long time to come after capturing a bronze medal with a 1-0 win over France at the London Summer Games on Thursday — the first time a Canadian soccer team has ever climbed an Olympic podium, and a remarkable turnaround for a squad that only a year ago was in tatters after its disastrous World Cup performance.

"Christine had the quote that's been inspiring us all: 'You can't be great until you've achieved great things. Getting the medal today was that great thing,'" Herdman said.

Diana Matheson scored in the 92nd minute to provide a stunning ending to a game

Record goal tally

Christine Sinclair set the women's Olympic record for tournament goals scored with six, including a hat trick in the semifinals.

that saw the French dominate a weary Canadian side. France outshot Canada 25-4, and 4-1 on target, banging shots off the crossbar and post and forcing 'keeper Erin McLeod to make some spectacular saves.

Just when the game appeared headed for extra time — which would have been bad news for the gassed Canadians — the 28-year-old Matheson pounced on Canada's lone scoring chance, running onto a deflection off a French defender from a Sophie Schmidt shot, firing a low hard ball past goalkeeper Sarah Bouhaddi.

Rhian Wilkinson tossed the Oakville, Ont., native — all five-feet of her — over her shoulder in celebration.

"I have no idea what happened. I can't remember it," Matheson said. "I think the ball came down the left and I was in the right place at the right time. The ball was right there, the net was basically open, it definitely was in slow motion."

The bronze marks the country's first Summer Games medal in a traditional team sport since a silver in men's basketball in 1936.

It was also the redemption the Canadians had been dreaming of after hitting what they say was "rock bottom" at the World Cup. They went winless, mathematically eliminated in a 4-0 thrashing by the same France squad they beat Thursday at City of Coventry Stadium.

They vowed they would never feel that way again. Herdman, hired to pick up the pieces after the disaster in Germany, promised them they wouldn't.

Women's wrestling. Japan's Yoshida denies Canadian grappler her first gold medal

Canadian freestyle wrestler Tonya Verbeek had been in this situation before.

She wrestled for gold in her Olympic debut at the 2004 Games in Athens and was devastated when she came up short. While Verbeek settled for second place again in London, rarely has a silver medalist seemed so happy after a loss.

"I promised myself that leading in to this Olympics, that I'm going to give my everything and the result will take care of itself," Verbeek said. "You have to embrace that."

She seemed at peace as she walked to the mat for Thursday's final against Olympic champion Saori Yoshida, who has simply dominated the 55-kilogram division over the last decade.

Verbeek looked around the packed ExCeL London North Arena 2 venue as the crowd buzzed with excitement. This would be her final Olympic bout and win or lose, she was going to take in the moment.

Yoshida had the backing of the pro-Japanese crowd and there was a roar when she scored a three-point take-down in the first round. She outscored Verbeek again in the second round to win her third straight Olympic title.

It was Canada's second women's freestyle wrestling medal of the Games after B.C.'s Carol Huynh won bronze in the 48-kilo division on Wednesday.

Verbeek has yet to beat Yoshida in nine career meetings. The 29-year-old Japanese star has won the world title at 55 kilos nine of the last 10 years.

Canadian coach Marty Calder said they were prepared for the challenge and had no plans to surrender.

"I didn't think the Giants were going to win the Super Bowl this year either and neither did I think the L.A. Kings were going to win (the Stanley Cup)," Calder said. "We're competitors. We come here and we give it our best and we give ourselves hope."

Verbeek qualified for the final with an impressive victory over Jackeline Renteria Castillo of Colombia.

Usain Bolt supports his claim of 'living legend'

Track and field. Jamaican speedster repeats as 200-metre champion while his country sweeps medals

Usain Bolt backed up his billing as a "living legend" by winning the Olympic 200 metres and becoming the first athlete to repeat as double Olympic sprint champion.

"Bask in my glory," Bolt boasted. "I've got nothing left to prove."

Undaunted by the first world record of the Olympic track meet run by 800-metre winner David Rudisha less than an hour before the 200 final, Bolt was not about to be upstaged by anyone.

He dominated his favourite event almost from the starting gun and had enough of a lead to slow down at the line, bring his left index finger to his mouth and signal a "ssssshhh" that was broadcast around the globe.

It should certainly silence the critics who claimed he was out of form ahead of the Olympics after losses to Blake at the Jamaican trials.

"That was for all the people that doubted me," Bolt said. "I was just telling them, 'You can stop talking now because I am a legend.'"

But he didn't stand a chance of hushing the 80,000-capacity crowd at the Olympic Stadium, which went wild as Bolt delivered on his promise of winning when it counts most.

They knew they were witnessing to something unique.

"I've done something that no one has done before, which is defend my double title," Bolt said. "Back-to-back for me, I would say I'm the greatest."

His 19.32-second winning time was just .02 seconds outside his winning mark at the Beijing Olympics.

Just like Sunday's victory in the 100, his junior training partner Yohan Blake stayed closest, and Warren Weir made it a full Jamaican medal sweep before Wallace Spearmon of the United States crossed in fourth place.

Bolt kissed the track twice before striking his trademark "To the World" pose, pointing both his index fingers upward to show what he had achieved.

Officials stand by decision to DQ Canadian rider

The head of equestrian's world governing body is defending the decision to disqualify a Canadian rider's horse at the London Olympics.

Tiffany Foster's horse Victor was found to have hypersensitivity in his left front leg due to a small scratch shortly before Sunday's team competition.

While Canadian officials have argued Victor was fit to compete, FEI secretary general Ingmar De Vos said he believes disqualification was the right decision.

"Disqualification of an athlete will always spark speculation, but in the case of Tiffany Foster's horse Victor the protocol established very clearly that this was an obvious case of hypersensitivity," De Vos said in a statement Thursday.

"This was a unanimous decision, supported by four highly qualified veterinarians who specialize in testing for hypersensitivity using a system that has been monitoring FEI competitions since 2005."

Canada's appeal of the decision was denied and a devastated Foster was knocked out of the London Games, enraging her teammates.

Mark de Jonge savours Olympic trip after injury

Kayaker. Broke middle finger just three weeks ahead of Canadian Olympic trials at Lake Lanier, Ga.

Not many of us exercise with an 80-lb dumbbell. Even fewer drop one on their finger and still make it to the Olympics.

Perhaps only Mark de Jonge can lay claim to both.

Restored to health, the muscular 28-year-old from Halifax opens his Olympic campaign on Friday in the K-1 200-metre heats.

His Olympic dream seemed over in mid-April when he broke the middle finger of his left hand. He was doing a dumbbell bench press on one side when he lost his balance.

"It was kind of a freak accident," he said. "I've done (that exercise) so many times before."

He put his hand down on the ground for balance, having to throw the weight away to do so. Unfortunately it did not go as far as he had

Quoted

"It made me wake up every day thinking 'OK, I need to do everything that I can to get faster today.' And that's kind of stayed with me on the water now too."

Canadian kayaker, Mark de Jonge planned.

One side of the dumbbell hit the ground. The other smashed his hand.

The good news was that it was a small break and the bone wasn't displaced.

But at the time — the accident during a training camp in Indian Harbour Beach, Fla. — he feared missing out on London. Given he had left the sport after not making the Beijing team, that possibility was especially painful.

"There was a whole lot of thoughts happening at one time, I couldn't really pick one but that was definitely one of them," he said. "I'm just really glad that it all worked out." THE CANADIAN PRESS

Horoscopes

♈ Aries

March 21 - April 20

Today, you will be even more daring and adventurous than you usually are. Trust that fate is on your side (it is) and that if you take the occasional calculated risk, it is more likely than not to pay off.

♉ Taurus

April 21 - May 21

Try not to make life too complicated, especially on the home front where loved ones will happily go along with your plans so long as they feel they are a part of them. If they're not, why not?

♊ Gemini

May 22 - June 21

You should find it easier to be more outgoing and expressive now that both the Sun and Mercury, your ruler, are moving in your favour. Your social life is about to get even busier and you will profit from new friendships.

♋ Cancer

June 22 - July 23

Life has been quite exhausting of late and you could do with a rest. So take one. It does not matter that other people think you should be running here, there and everywhere. Tell them to get lost.

♌ Leo

July 24 - Aug. 23

Your mind is now clear enough to see that whatever successes you have in the future will come from the decisions and the efforts you make today, tomorrow and over the next few weeks. So get moving.

♍ Virgo

Aug. 24 - Sept. 23

You may be eager to push ahead with certain ideas but the planets urge you to slow down a bit. You cannot possibly do all the things you would like to do, so be selective. Difficult choices are called for.

♎ Libra

Sept. 24 - Oct. 23

With the Sun moving through the area of your chart that governs friendships, you will see how necessary it is to forge alliances with like-minded people. Together you can do something special.

♏ Scorpio

Oct. 24 - Nov. 22

Certain people are taking you for granted and it's got to stop. That applies especially to your work and career where it seems you are not getting the recognition you deserve. Do something to get yourself noticed today.

♐ Sagittarius

Nov. 23 - Dec. 21

The Sun's move through one of the more outspoken areas of your chart means you'll let everyone know what you think about what's going on in the world. Some will be offended but all will admire your willingness to speak out.

♑ Capricorn

Dec. 22 - Jan. 20

The Sun in Leo at this time of year helps you to look inside yourself and focus on issues you usually prefer to ignore. Don't be afraid to face your demons — chances are they don't really exist.

♒ Aquarius

Jan. 21 - Feb. 19

Cosmic activity in your opposite sign will help you see things not only from your point of view but also from the point of view of others. Their worldview is not so very different to your own.

♓ Pisces

Feb. 20 - March 20

Listen to what your body is telling you today and if it tells you to slow down or not do so much, don't be a fool and ignore it. It's important that you keep physically and mentally fit. SALLY BROMPTON
